Profile

I am a highly motivated student major in Software engineering with a love for creating cutting-edge software solutions. I have developed a strong foundation in programming languages, algorithms, and software engineering principles throughout my academic career. Through an internship where I can actively contribute to the creation of cutting-edge software applications, I'm keen to put my knowledge to use and get real-world experience. I have strong communication and teamwork abilities, am a quick learner, and am adaptable to new technologies and frameworks. As a software engineer who wants to advance in the industry, I am thrilled about having a chance to help your company grow.
